

Clear Romanian, useful detail

A writing guide for pages, proposals, captions and production messages. It protects clarity without forcing a manufactured 'brand voice'.

01 / EDITORIAL STANDARD

Write for a decision

Readers should quickly understand what is offered, what is included, when it happens and what the next step is.

STATE THE SERVICE

Name the deliverable: fotografie imobiliară, video vertical, pagină de prezentare, portal client. Avoid vague labels when a specific service is available.

STATE THE SCOPE

List the property, number or type of deliverables, intended channel, handover date and any exclusions. Use bullets for scope and pricing.

STATE THE ACTION

End operational messages with one next step: confirmă data, trimite materialele, aprobă varianta, alege pachetul. Add the contact or deadline when relevant.

02 / COPY PATTERNS

Reusable structures

Adapt these structures to the actual property, client and deliverables. Do not invent outcomes, availability or performance claims.

03 / NAMES, FACTS AND REVIEW

Accuracy is part of the brand

Use Romanian diacritics. Verify every property fact with the approved source before publication.

Property facts

Address or locality, floor area, room count, amenities, price, availability and viewing details must be supplied or confirmed by the client or listing source.

Performance claims

Only publish views, leads, sales results or client names that are supported by the relevant report or written permission.

Image permissions

Confirm rights for photography, video, music, floor plans, people and third-party logos before use.

Language

Use 'Realty Media' in title case. Service names may be Romanian or English when they match a recognised deliverable; keep one language within a short item of copy.
